Home Correspondence.

Barkentine.—Hitherto I take the liberty of sending my copy of the June number uncut, in order to save the expense to the reader who may be desirous of copying it in an almanac, or other such publication. I have been informed by Dr. J. R. Dowdell, Butl. House Dury, Dutch. Essex, [one of whose books is very much unfitted for the purpose for which it is intended], Mr. A. G. More, must request that you will relieve him from the trouble he has incurred by taking it home, and give it to Mr. Dowdell, that he may have the satisfaction of seeing it put in the hands of the subscribers. It is also very much to his interest, that the receipt of the books at the post office not be underwritten to name them.

Viburnum.—I have just been told by Mr. More that the best way to get his book, and the book of Mr. Dowdell, is to send the money to him, and they will send the books by return of post. It is also very much to Mr. More's advantage to get the book, and the book of Mr. Dowdell, by sending the money to him, and they will send the books by return of post. It is also very much to his interest, that the receipt of the books at the post office not be underwritten to name them.

I must be careful to the letter to the accommodation of the reader, and I am, yours, truly,

September 22, 1830.J. THE GARDENER'S CHRONICLE AND AGRICULTURAL GAZETTE. 823

home correspondence.

Barkentine.—Hitherto I take the liberty of sending my copy of the June number uncut, in order to save the expense to the reader who may be desirous of copying it in an almanac, or other such publication. I have been informed by Dr. J. R. Dowdell, Butl. House Dury, Dutch. Essex, [one of whose books is very much unfitted for the purpose for which it is intended], Mr. A. G. More, must request that you will relieve him from the trouble he has incurred by taking it home, and give it to Mr. Dowdell, that he may have the satisfaction of seeing it put in the hands of the subscribers. It is also very much to his interest, that the receipt of the books at the post office not be underwritten to name them.

Viburnum.—I have just been told by Mr. More that the best way to get his book, and the book of Mr. Dowdell, is to send the money to him, and they will send the books by return of post. It is also very much to Mr. More's advantage to get the book, and the book of Mr. Dowdell, by sending the money to him, and they will send the books by return of post. It is also very much to his interest, that the receipt of the books at the post office not be underwritten to name them.

I must be careful to the letter to the accommodation of the reader, and I am, yours, truly,

September 22, 1830.

THE GARDENER'S CHRONICLE AND AGRICULTURAL GAZETTE.

Home Correspondence.

Barkentine.—Hitherto I take the liberty of sending my copy of the June number uncut, in order to save the expense to the reader who may be desirous of copying it in an almanac, or other such publication. I have been informed by Dr. J. R. Dowdell, Butl. House Dury, Dutch. Essex, [one of whose books is very much unfitted for the purpose for which it is intended], Mr. A. G. More, must request that you will relieve him from the trouble he has incurred by taking it home, and give it to Mr. Dowdell, that he may have the satisfaction of seeing it put in the hands of the subscribers. It is also very much to his interest, that the receipt of the books at the post office not be underwritten to name them.

Viburnum.—I have just been told by Mr. More that the best way to get his book, and the book of Mr. Dowdell, is to send the money to him, and they will send the books by return of post. It is also very much to Mr. More's advantage to get the book, and the book of Mr. Dowdell, by sending the money to him, and they will send the books by return of post. It is also very much to his interest, that the receipt of the books at the post office not be underwritten to name them.

I must be careful to the letter to the accommodation of the reader, and I am, yours, truly,

September 22, 1830.

THE GARDENER'S CHRONICLE AND AGRICULTURAL GAZETTE.

Home Correspondence.

Barkentine.—Hitherto I take the liberty of sending my copy of the June number uncut, in order to save the expense to the reader who may be desirous of copying it in an almanac, or other such publication. I have been informed by Dr. J. R. Dowdell, Butl. House Dury, Dutch. Essex, [one of whose books is very much unfitted for the purpose for which it is intended], Mr. A. G. More, must request that you will relieve him from the trouble he has incurred by taking it home, and give it to Mr. Dowdell, that he may have the satisfaction of seeing it put in the hands of the subscribers. It is also very much to his interest, that the receipt of the books at the post office not be underwritten to name them.

Viburnum.—I have just been told by Mr. More that the best way to get his book, and the book of Mr. Dowdell, is to send the money to him, and they will send the books by return of post. It is also very much to Mr. More's advantage to get the book, and the book of Mr. Dowdell, by sending the money to him, and they will send the books by return of post. It is also very much to his interest, that the receipt of the books at the post office not be underwritten to name them.

I must be careful to the letter to the accommodation of the reader, and I am, yours, truly,

September 22, 1830.

THE GARDENER'S CHRONICLE AND AGRICULTURAL GAZETTE.