Corra Linn, Keswick, Oct. 30, 1894.

Sirs, — A rule which has always held good with me is that I make it a practice never to cultivate any plant or flower which cannot be grown in the open air, and therefore make it a point to see that all my plants and flowers should be grown in the open air. I have always found this to be the case, and I am sure that you will find it to be the case also.

I have for many years been interested in the cultivation of Papilionaceae, and I have always found that the plants which I have grown have always been the most successful. I have therefore decided to grow this plant in my garden, and I am sure that you will find it to be the case also.

I am, Sirs,
Yours truly,

W. G. G. Newton.
