My dear Sir

I accordance with your note in "Notes" & the "Academy", I send you six letters of your father's; though I am not at all sure that you will find anything in any of them worth publishing. Unfortunately the year is omitted in the date of most of them; but I think I could supply it if required. On the other side I have put down the occasions of their being written. Of course I shall value greatly having them back again.

I think Mr. McArthur

I'd be glad you have a good photographic portrait of your father which you consider the best possible. Can you tell me when I can possess it? I shall value a copy greatly.

Yr. very truly
