

Bournemouth Oct 31/82

My dear Mr. Darwin

I have found one more letter.
There is little in it worth sending, except the last few lines showing how much better he then thought himself, and his delight at his work on seedling plants.

I am in doubt where to direct to you in Cambridge so I think it best to send this to Dorset, where they will know your address.

Our small moving party of old Peaples are having a portrait of Fitz Roy painted at Plymouth from a photo for the purpose of placing it in Green with College It is said to be a good likeness. We are having a rather large photo taken of the Portraits to have one each for ourselves, and to send one to Mr Fitz Roy - to Capt. F

his son - and to Mr Darwin.

I have given the address to you, at "University Cambridge."

If you will let me know your correct address I shall have time to send it before the photo

is forwarded.

You will like to know that the musical grape has turned out more deep purple than ever this year. but some bunches have some ~~very~~ small white ones with the others.

With kind regards to
W. D. and your brother Believe me
very sincerely yours

J. H. Hulway
